JACKSONVILLE REPUBLICAN

JACKSONVILLE, ALABAMA.

SATURDAY, JUNE 1st, 1872.

Pursuant to a call of the Democratic Executive Committee of the State, the Democratic State Convention will be held in the City of Montgomery the NINETEENTH of JUNE.

Call for a County Convention of the Democratic and Conservative Party of Calhoun.

The Central Committee of the Democratic and Conservative Party of Calhoun county hereby respectfully request the members of said party to meet, at an early day, in their respective beats, and select delegates to represent them in a County Convention to be held at the Court House, on Saturday the 8th day of June next.

The object of the Convention is to select delegates to the State Convention, at Montgomery, on the 19th July, and to consider such other matters as may be thought advisable when assembled.

J. H. CALDWELL, Central Com. G. I. TURNLEY.

Democratic Union of the 1st of June, of Calhoun County, Alabama. At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Democratic Union of the 1st of June, at the Court House in Jacksonville, on the 1st day of June, at 2 o'clock, P. M., for the purpose of so organizing as to hold a county convention in the County of Calhoun, on the 8th day of June next.

H. L. STEVENSON, Secretary.

The friends of Hon. Thos. A. Walker, now his name as a candidate for the Senate from the counties of Cherokee and Calhoun, subject to the action of a nominating convention, should call to mind.

Ex-Gov. John G. Sherman died in England, at an advanced age, before two o'clock Wednesday morning last.

Hon. George H. Rainsford, a Southern lady. Her name was George and her home was North Carolina.

Charles Sumner, a Southern lady. Her name was George and her home was North Carolina.

The initials of George H. Rainsford and George H. Rainsford, a Southern lady. Her name was George and her home was North Carolina.

The Montgomery Advertiser not long since suggested a general convention of new paper men at Montgomery, to take into consideration any laws that might be brought up for the good of the craft.

The Jacksonville Republican. We have read several articles recently in that respectable old journal, the Jacksonville Republican, which meet our hearty approval, and show that it is becoming wide awake, and has a just comprehension of the political situation.

First Knock Down for Greeley. In the House on the 27th, I found moved to suspend the rules for the purpose of taking up and passing the bill extending the Ku-Klux bill until the end of the next regular session of Congress. This motion was rejected by a vote of 105 yeas to 74 nays.

That old Indian dead-beat and hummer, Red Cloud, has again gone to Washington with his staff of chiefs and squaws. The immediate reason for this visit to Washington is that one of Red Cloud's men have been killing a few white men on the plains and Red Cloud wants to explain and get some more iron, powder and fire-water, traps.

The Rome Commercial says that the Baltimore Convention was called for a specific purpose, and dare not nominate any but a Democrat. Will the Commercial please tell us who made the editors of the Baltimore Convention superior to the Convention itself? What authority is above that of the people assembled in Convention in the persons of their chosen delegates? The Baltimore Convention can depose the editors of the Convention and most likely will, as far as the chairman is concerned.

AMNESTY.

Immediately following Amnesty comes a call from the people of the South for their old and trusted leaders again, and many brilliant young men of the country just entering upon political life, who were within one step of position and honorable political promotion, find themselves, for the time in the back ground, all their calculations come to naught, all their castles in the air whiffed out of sight at the bare breath of Congress; find themselves again in the troups, while old familiar faces, with the wrinkles of fifteen years added, again occupy the driver's box. And, the cheery old fellows, bearing few of the traces of that severe heart-sickness that is supposed to come of hope deferred, have picked up the reins with the confident and sprightly air of the elder Veller, have given us an old time blast from the old bugle horn, and now are driving right along with great spirit and dash, but with just a little, barely a shade, less speed than before the late catastrophe, wherein, after a protracted dispute, our friends over the line took possession of the team and reined them for awhile.

Writing as a young man, we do not know whom to most congratulate upon the change, the elderly gentleman who had himself again "invested with" the reins, or the young man whose prospects of future promotion are somewhat improved by it; but we incline to the opinion that of the two the latter have at last most reason to be satisfied with it.

The old gentleman comparatively old of years, have arrived just in time to take charge of a most critical juncture, when the road is very bad and the weather very foggy. The country is now passing through a great political revolution, parties are just now in hotch potch and after the common danger that now compels us to travel along with all these strange passengers is over, there will be a general breaking up, and several personal accounts will have all to gain or all to lose by the issue, which none can foresee and which they can hardly shape for the people, to return to the figure have the bits in their teeth and are becoming restive and unruly. Men who can make the time to wait, cannot afford to take all on this one short drive. But this is not the only and the greatest danger they have escaped.

In the late abnormal condition of affairs, when offices, before attainable by our fathers only after long and faithful service to the State, hung within the reach of mere boys, comparatively, the danger to our young men lay in the too early abandonment of their professions and various honorable vocations for the dubious field of politics, in which so many men that would otherwise make valuable members of society, are spoiled, and in which so few rise to real distinction and usefulness.

As it is, those who have political aspirations have yet all the advantages enjoyed by other citizens of the Republic up to the time of our late war, with the additional advantage of entering upon political life at a less stormy time. After awhile they may enter the arena more fully developed in knowledge, both of politics and human nature, more firmly rooted and grounded in right political principles, and more equanimely more likely to be able to resist the temptations of a career as a political politician. It remains to them, without one sign for what "might have been," to go to heartily and manfully to work, and in the old-fashioned way, win for themselves and places that, when acquired, shall bring to them real honor; that shall redound to the welfare of the State; that shall make the pages of the history of our country upon which they figure as attractive, as marked as any in the volume.

Our distinguished fellow citizen, Gen. Wm. H. Forney, has been imprisoned and strongly urged, from various positions of State, to become a candidate for Governor, in the approaching campaign, but he has declined to enter the field of politics yet awhile. We know of no politician in the State who would fill more creditably the honorable position, none whose administration would do more honor to the State, and none who would give us a more qualified satisfaction at home. We regret, therefore, that the requirements of his profession should so operate as to deprive the State of the services of so gallant and accomplished a soldier, as leader of our forces in the coming campaign.

That old Indian dead-beat and hummer, Red Cloud, has again gone to Washington with his staff of chiefs and squaws. The immediate reason for this visit to Washington is that one of Red Cloud's men have been killing a few white men on the plains and Red Cloud wants to explain and get some more iron, powder and fire-water, traps.

J. J. R. W. Rogers, of Cherokee county, Ala., and formerly of this county, was drowned in the Coast near Bear River's son-in-law, on Saturday evening last. It appears he had pulled off his clothes, except his shoes, and we understand some parties saw him sink near the opposite bank from where he went in at. On last accounts his friends were searching for his body.

The Merry Nine Base Ball Club of this place played with the Oxford Nine last week, a match game and were victorious, as the score printed below will show. The Merry Nine are taking them as they come. Tall-tale we believe is the next town to Oxford.

POLITICAL STATE NOTES.—The Montgomery Advertiser by authority announces that Gov. Land will be a local candidate for re-election. This has caused various comment from the newspapers of the State, in the main complimentary to the Governor. The Montgomery Advertiser, however, thinks the ticket run up by the Selma Times and Herald, is a prize below, and enough, but would prefer to have Red Cloud at the head of the ticket. The Oxford Chronicle has a complimentary article of Col. H. H. Rainsford and thinks the Selma Times and Herald is a "man in convention" the Selma Times and Herald has the instruction to present the name of Wm. J. Rainsford as a candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction, and to urge that the Calhoun delegation to the State Convention be instructed to put his name in nomination and insist upon his nomination. The editor of the Home Courier would like to see a citizen of Alabama write that he had voted for Hon. Thos. A. Walker. The Home Courier, however, and other papers, mention Mr. Oates for Governor. The present Lieut. Governor, Mr. Moore, has been mentioned by the press for Governor. Mr. Fairbank of Montgomery has been mentioned in connection with the same ticket with Mr. Moore.

The Jefferson County Convention thinks it impossible for the Baltimore Convention to make a nomination, and that the interest of the country demand that the Democratic party should support Greeley and Brown. The Convention pledges itself to support the nominees of the State Convention who ever they may be and says that it would most cheerfully support the following named gentlemen for the office of Governor, if elected: Hon. John A. Walker, Newton L. Whitfield, of Tuscaloosa, Edmund W. Pettus, of Dallas, and Wm. H. Forney, of Calhoun. The Convention opposed making State aid to Rail Road an issue in the approaching campaign. The supporters of Capt. Allen, a Martin as a delegate from Alabama to the National Convention at Baltimore, would be going to the people of Jefferson County. The Republican may add that the amendment would be most excellent, as it would give the people of Alabama a more direct voice in the election of a President.

The Negro Gazette is the title of a Grant campaign organ lately started at New Orleans, the character of which may be judged from the following verbatim extract:

The Negro Gazette is going to be edited and printed by Dr. Crowwell, if he lives and God spurs his life this year of 1872; and I tell you one and all, don't kick against the Negro Gazette because it is printed on a small sheet and only once a week for the present, because when the political issue begins to get hot, the sheets of the Negro Gazette will spread itself twice as large as now, and I will make things so eternal hot for some of these office seekers that they will wish to find that old Dr. Crowwell was in the interior of Africa with Dr. Livingston, the great explorer, take that for high and smoke that in your pipe.

JACKSONVILLE REPUBLICAN

JACKSONVILLE, ALABAMA.

SATURDAY, JUNE 8th 1872.

Pursuant to a call of the Democratic Executive Committee of the State, the Democratic State Convention will be held in the City of Montgomery the SIXTEENTH of JUNE.

The friends of Hon. Thos. A. Walker, announce his name as a candidate for the Senate from the counties of Cherokee and Calhoun; subject to the action of a nominating convention, should one be held.

We give up most of our editorial space, this week, to the "Political State Notes," which we trust will be found interesting.

Senator Goldthwaite has written a letter favoring the adoption of Greely and Brown by the Democratic party. Messrs. Cox, Shes and Handley are said to occupy the same attitude.

Alabama is now entitled to two Congressmen at Large.

We return thanks to Hon. Peter M. Cox, our courteous Representative, for a copy of the testimony taken before the Ku-Klux Committee.

The Philadelphia Age of the 3rd inst. says the Pennsylvania Democratic Convention very properly ignored Mr. Greely. Anybody must be very astute who can discern in the platform or in the Delegates to Baltimore, the least concession to the Cincinnati ticket.

OUR FIRE COMPANY, is not large enough, and needs some recruits. The Water Works will soon be completed and the hose here, and we will not have enough men to do effective service should a fire occur. The young men who have already enrolled their names deserve the greatest credit; but we should not expect a few to take upon themselves the duties and responsibilities that devolve upon the many. Without a well organized fire company the water works will be of little use to us in fire. Let us then have a full company. Let the business men of the town, who are most directly interested, enroll themselves and give encouragement by so doing to the company. In all towns and cities where such organizations exist, we find such to be the case, and there is no reason why Jacksonville should present an exception to the rule. Firemen are public benefactors and should be encouraged here as elsewhere. Will not every business house in town send some recruits to the fire company?

The Apology for Grant.

[From the Montgomery Advertiser.]

When Mr. Voorhees in his denunciation of Greeley and apology for Grant, declared in the House of Representatives that "Grant had only executed laws which another man demanded," he forgot the following wicked message recently sent by Grant to Congress on the 23rd of March, 1871:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

A condition of affairs now exists in some of the States of the Union rendering life and property insecure, and the carrying of the mails and the collection of the revenue, dangerous. The proof that such a condition exists is in some localities is now before the Senate. That the power to correct these evils is beyond the control of the State authorities I do not doubt. That the power of the executive of the United States, acting within the limits of existing laws, is sufficient for the present emergency is not clear. Therefore, I earnestly recommend Congress shall effectively secure life, liberty and property in all parts of the United States. It may be expedient to provide that such law as shall be passed in pursuance of this recommendation shall expire at the end of the next session of Congress. There is no other subject on which I would recommend legislation during the present session.

U. S. GRANT.

In consequence of this false and infamous Message all the Enforcement acts and Ku-Klux Legislation were ushered into their hell-born life. The Bill giving the power to suspend the Habeas Corpus and proclaim Martial Law under the 4th of March, in order that the election polls might be controlled by laymen in a dozen States, passed by the Senate and happily killed in the House, was based on this Message. With what truth then can Mr. Voorhees make his apologetic assertion for Grant. It is certain that he by his Message, first originated and then executed most cruelly in the Carolinas the diabolical Ku-Klux acts.

BEAT MEETING.—Pursuant to call of the Beat Democratic Executive Committee, the Citizens of Beat No. 1, met in the Court House, the 2nd day of June, 1872.

On motion, Hon. M. J. Turney was called to the chair, and L. W. Grant requested to act as Secretary.

On motion, six Delegates were appointed to represent the Beat in the County Convention to be held in Jacksonville June 8th, whose names are as follows: W. H. Emory, John H. Caldwell, E. T. Beal, Thos. A. Walker, Wm. M. Hames and G. B. Douditch. On motion the name of the Chairman was added to the list of delegates.

By unanimous vote of the Convention, E. T. Beal, G. B. Douditch and H. J. Stevenson, were confirmed as the Executive Committee of the Beat.

M. J. TURNLEY, Chairman.

L. W. GRANT, Sec'y.

Congress protects its session till the 10th inst. There is to be another struggle to get through the budget bill, which Grant now counts all his hopes of re-election. Let every Democrat, let every man in the House who is true to American institutions, be vigilant and firm in his resistance to this villain.

POLITICAL STATE NOTES.

Hon. F. S. Lyon is the first choice of the Demopolis Highway News for Governor, but it is understood he will not run. The News holds the following State ticket: For Governor, Thos. A. Walker; for Lieutenant Governor, Thos. H. Herndon; for Secretary of State, J. J. Parker; for Attorney General, John W. A. Sanford; for Auditor, Jas. A. Young; for Treasurer, J. F. Grant; for Superintendent of Public Instruction, Joseph Holladay; for Congress at Large, Jos. W. Taylor.

Col. Wm. W. Garth, of Madison, is the choice of the Decatur News for Congress.

J. G. Harrison is the choice of the Marion Commonwealth and the Shelby County Guide for Congress from the 4th District.

A Greenville correspondent of the Montgomery Advertiser, says that Wm. H. Barnes and J. M. Whitehead, editor of the Greenville Thinker are each spoken of favorably for Governor in that county.

One of the Camden, (Wilcox county) newspapers holds as its ticket, Col. C. C. Langston for Governor; R. H. Dawson for Congress at Large; Brutus Howard for Congress 1st District.

A correspondent of the Greenville South Alabama in puts out the following ticket: For Governor, E. H. Moore, of Bibb; for Lieutenant Governor, W. H. Crawshaw, of Butler; for Auditor, Jefferson Faulkner, of Montgomery; for Congress at Large, Wm. H. Barnes, of Lee.

A correspondent of the Elberton Independent recommends W. R. Smith for Governor.

The Wilcox Vindicator runs up C. C. Langston for Governor.

Dr. G. T. Benson, of Jefferson, is mentioned for Congress from the 6th District.

The Talladega News holds the name of Mr. Handley for Congress from the 3rd District. It is also authorized to state that Mr. A. W. Ploofman will be bought before the county convention for the nomination as Representative from Talladega county.

A meeting in Shelby county brings forward R. B. Lewis for Governor.

The Talladega Reporter is for Gen. L. W. Lawler for Governor.

A Russell county correspondent of the Montgomery Advertiser, presents the name of Hon. J. F. Wadell, of Russell, for Congress from the 2nd District.

A correspondent of the Montgomery Advertiser writing from Autauga county says that most of the people of that county endorse the administration of Governor Lindsay, and stand ready and willing to support him again, if nominated.

The Barlow's News wants W. C. Oates for Governor.

A Clark county correspondent of the Mobile Tribune wants Price Williams, of Mobile for Governor. The Tribune says editorially, "our Clark county friend may rest assured that Col. Price Williams will not be overlooked, as his former residence in Sumter county and his prominence in this city for the last 20 years as one of our most successful merchants, and now 'President of the Board of Trade' will very certainly place his name among those to be considered."

A correspondent of the Talladega Watch-tower thinks that Alex. White will be the Radical candidate for Congress from the 2nd District, and that Hon. Paul Bradford is the man to oppose him. The same correspondent suggests the name of Hon. Wm. H. Thornton, of Talladega, for State Treasurer.

Another correspondent of the Watch-tower presents the name of Hon. Jno. T. Hollis, of Talladega, as a suitable man for Governor.

Another correspondent of the Watch-tower wants Mr. Street, of Clay, in the Senate from Clay and Talladega; next to Mr. Street, Judge Wm. H. Thornton. He wants Talladega's "Great Commoner," Col. Bradford, at his post in the House. Dr. M. G. Slaughter, according to the correspondent, has also been thought of for the Senate, and Capt. Joe McGowan, for the House.

A correspondent of the Birmingham Sun favors the nomination of Hon. T. J. Burnett for Auditor.

A correspondent of the North Port Spectator brings forward the name of Hon. E. A. Duvall, of Tuscaloosa, for Congress at Large.

The Cherokee Advertiser of June 6th contains a communication signed "Many Friends of Cherokee" addressed to Hon. Thos. A. Walker, in which, after making the communication to the JACKSONVILLE REPUBLICAN calling him out says, in relation to the office of Governor, "If you aspire to that position, you may safely rely upon an almost unanimous support of Cherokee. You are pre-eminently the man for the times and the people are the judges!" We may publish the communication entire next week.

A correspondent of the Cherokee Advertiser says a high and deserved compliment to Hon. J. J. Parker and hopes the Cherokee delegation may go to Montgomery instructed to vote for his re-nomination.

The Birmingham Sun still keeps up the name of Geo. Patton for Governor and will do so until the convention, in the hope that he will accept, if nominated.

The Golden Times is for Gov. Lindsay for Congress at Large.

A correspondent of the Talladega News suggests Rev. T. A. Cook, of Talladega county, for Superintendent of Public Instruction.

G. A. Joiner of the Talladega Watch-tower is brought out by his friends for the Legislature.

The Shelby Guide has up the following ticket: For Governor, Thos. A. Walker; for Lieutenant Governor, Thos. H. Herndon; for Secretary of State, J. J. Parker; for Treasurer, Dan'l Crawford, of Coosa; for Auditor, M. M. Cooke, of Montgomery; for Superintendent of Public Instruction, W. H. Meredith, of Shelby; for Congress at Large, Paul Bradford, of Talladega.

A DIABOLICAL CONSPIRACY.

Selma to be Burned and Her Prominent Citizens Assassinated—The Four Work Already Inaugurated.

The following from the Selma Times of a late date will explain itself. We are particularly pleased with the last part of the Times' answer:

SELMA, May 30, 1872.

Col. S. J. Saffold, Editor Times: In your editorial comments on an article from the Mobile Register, this morning, you refer to an incendiary document in your possession, and state that the author is well known. As this is a matter that elicits the interest of every man, woman and child in this community, self-protection warrants every man in asking the name of the public enemy, that we may be always prepared, and vigilant against him at sight.

With the greatest confidence in your judgment and a willingness to defer to it, as to the right or wrong of giving his name to the public, I join with others in asking for the information.

CITIZEN.

In reply to "Citizen," we will state that the matter is in the hands of several of the best citizens of the city, and has been for several days. We are following their judgment—in direct opposition to our own—in withholding the name of the party who has made the effort to obtain incendiaries and assassins, to burn the houses and assassinate several of our prominent citizens. In this connection, we state that circumstances tend to show that Captain R. H. English's house was set on fire by the paid scoundrel of the same party. That that came so near killing the estimable lady of Maj. J. C. Compton, and which was, doubtless, intended for him, is explained in this letter, to say nothing of the threat that was made, by unknown parties, the night of the burning of Capt. English's residence, and of which we, at the time, told several of our friends, that "our time would be next." "Citizen" may rest assured, that if anything occurs in the shape of assassination or incendiarism, several parties, all in collusion, will be found swinging to the lamp posts of the city.

TELEGRAPHIC RESUME

JUNE 1.—Lyon spoke in Senate in favor of Grant's administration. Sumner spoke and shared the same fate. Female College at Shelbyville, Kentucky, burned.

James Gordon Bennett dead. The Supreme Court, (Florida), have held that Blaxton, (Connecticut) is the best precedent for a case in place of Day. Blaxton has been sworn in and held all night with Day.

The Pennsylvania Democracy plants itself upon the Constitution, Jackson's Farewell Address and Jefferson's inaugural Address. Incendiary made to Greeley and Brown ticket.

JUNE 2.—Congress has agreed to prolong the session to June 10th. Insurgent forces of Mexico in the city and will attack it.

No solution as yet to the Washington treaty muddle. JUNE 3.—Spanish advisers indicate an early release of Dr. Howard, the American diplomat, who was treated by the Spanish Government authorities.

A uniform tax of 20 cents on tobacco is probable. Primary Democratic elections to Baltimore Convention, in Missouri, show largely in favor of Grant.

Excursion attempted to evacuate Monterey, was attacked and routed. JUNE 4.—The Greeley raidification meeting in New York immense. Trumbull writes a letter to the meeting favoring Greeley. Greeley has long since repudiated his raidification in Virginia is too feeble to provoke a campaign.

The Democratic Convention at Los Angeles, California, has declared for Greeley. A special dispatch says that Trevino, the insurgent leader, killed his troops and utterly defeated the Government troops at Monterey.

In the House the bill distributing quota of arms to the Insurrectionary States from 1862 to 1865, passed, and another bill removing disabilities, passed.

In the Methodist Conference, Rev. Dr. Fuller offered a resolution to establish a colored conference in the territory between the Georgia and Alabama Conferences. After some discussion the resolution was tabled.

In the International Telegraphical Union, which is in session at Richmond, Virginia, a resolution recommending telegraphic cables to cross their sections of the Atlantic Ocean, was adopted.

In the General Conference of M. E. Church North the committee on the State of the church reported that 41,417 members were in the church, and the Methodist Church South, were harmoniously settled and they proposed a committee to confer with the leaders of the Church South, to bring about fraternal relations between the two churches.

Several delegates in favor of the project. The report was unanimously adopted by a rising vote. Mass meeting in New York to ratify nominations of Greeley and Brown. Meeting large and enthusiastic.

JUNE 6.—The objection to the Lower House of Congress, argued that payment of the war debt, being the entering wedge to pensioning Southern soldiers and paying Southern war debt.

National Republican Convention met at Philadelphia, Thos. H. Scott, of North Carolina was elected President and Convention adjourned until tomorrow.

During the day speeches were made by Morton, Logan, Gerritt, Smith, Gov. Greeley, Jno. A. Gray, a colored delegate from Arkansas, and others all of them in warm eulogy of Grant, who it is declared will be nominated by Selma.

There is intense excitement over the Vice-President. The friends of Wilson and Colfax are both working with the greatest vim. On the question of platform it is said that the only difference of opinion that exists is on the tariff.

The Convention has a Vice-President from each State, Paul Graham being the one from Alabama. W. V. Turner is the Secretary from Alabama and Henry B. Nichols from Mobile.

The International Telegraphical Union adopted a resolution concerning the practice of making religious or political sentiments qualification or disqualification for employment. All subordinate Unions are recommended to admit female printers on same footing as males. A resolution was adopted fixing time of apprenticeship four years.

JUNE 7.—It is announced that Secretary Fish has resigned.

Wilson's friends are sanguine that he will be nominated on the second ballot. Graham has been nominated.

Returns from the Oregon election indicate a Republican victory.

New York.—Gold, $114. Cotton (middling) 20cts.

A most remarkable crowd assembled two or three weeks since in Paris, before the Ministry of Justice. There were all the executioners in France. It had been determined that for the whole Republic there should be only one headman, and each of these officials operators hoped to secure the proud position. In all there were thirty of them—artists whose business it was to cut off heads; and yet it is said that a milder looking set of men was never gathered together. Most of them had been apprenticed to their profession in early boyhood, and each looked to the coveted appointment as to what Ward calls "a good job."

We believe France is the only country in the world in which the executioner is not ex-officio respectable.

A gentleman ought not to whistle in a public place.

THE SWINDLING AND EMBEZZLING RING ATTEMPT TO BULLY AND INTIMIDATE THE PEOPLE OF SELMA AND DALLAS COUNTY.

House Burning and Murder the Order of the Day.

What say the People!!!

[From the Selma Times, June 4th.]

It has been known for some time past for a few of the most influential and prominent citizens of this city, that an attempt had been made to procure assassins and incendiaries from neighboring cities to come here and kill some of our prominent citizens, and to burn their houses. How we came in possession of the document that details this diabolical and hellish effort, and which we append herewith, covers no one but the guilty fiend who wrote it. But we will state, for the benefit of the public, that it has been by a happy combination of circumstances, that we have secured "Secret Revelations," and diabolically induced parties cannot prevent. The hand writing has been identified by the best men in the city who are familiar with the hand-writing of this fiend, who would have earned his money by his diabolical and hellish efforts, but who have been discharged their duty to their city, county and State. Judge Compton, Judge Brooks, Judge Heflin, Gen. Pettus, Col. Dawson, Mayor Delham, Wm. White, Capt. J. H. Robinson, an Agent of the Southern Railway, and others will testify to the hand-writing. They have each seen the letter, and have pronounced upon the genuineness of the document. Personally, we have never exchanged a word with the fiend who has been made. His social and moral status are well as well known in this community, and his conduct has forfeited the esteem and confidence that his family association, wealth and capacity would have entitled him to. He has been a long and cruel with Radical feelings in this county, for he was a man of immense means, as compared to other men, after the war, having inherited a large patrimony; and through his wealth many of the official business of the city had been made.

We call the attention of our citizens to the fact that J. C. Compton, Esq., the attorney for Dallas county, brought suit against Leroy G. Weaver, former Sheriff of Dallas county, for defaming him by publishing a false statement in the Times of the 14th of April, 1872, in which he charged that Weaver had been guilty of a crime, and that he was a man of infamous character.

ANOTHER FIRE!

BROAD STREET ABLAZE.

LOSS NOT LESS THAN FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS!!

From the Selma Times, June 5th.

Our city was again visited by another disaster, for about one o'clock this morning, the fire, the origin of which is unknown, was first discovered in the wooden building occupied by, and belonging to Jos. Meyer & Son, the flames from which soon communicated to a vast storey brick building belonging to Mr. Amos Lloyd, and occupied by Greil & Kolm. In this building were also sleeping apartments and law offices. Among the latter, were White & Doyne, or residence, was considerable, a valuable library being contained. The third story, owned by Selma, Fraternal Lodge No. 27, the jewels, furniture, etc., of which were saved. Greil & Kolm lost heavily in goods, which were only partially covered by insurance. The third building was consumed. Loss about $11,000, insurance $4,000. Three wooden buildings adjoining that of Jos. Meyer & Son, two of which belonged to Henry Cochran and occupied by Mrs. J. C. Weaver, a millinery store, and a Phillips, kept as a grocery store, and another belonging to Mrs. Jordan, and occupied by White & Brown as a tin shop, were also consumed. Loss not known. The goods in the three last mentioned houses were nearly all saved. Nothing was saved from the houses of

Hon. Geo. H. Pendleton for Greeley.

The St. Louis Republican of May 29th says: Our Washington dispatches of last night dissipate any doubt there may be relative to the attitude of Hon. George H. Pendleton, of Ohio, on the subject of the presidency. He unequivocally and emphatically supports Greeley, and no doubt at the proper time will make his eloquent voice heard on the hustings in behalf of the new revolution.

THE LATTER-DAY JOSEPH.
Jim Fisk's Advice to a Beautiful Miss Potiphar.

Eleanor Kirk tells a beautiful little incident of the late Col. Fisk, which she vouches for as true in every particular: In passing out of his opera-house one day last winter, Col. Fisk was accosted by a very beautiful young girl, apparently about seventeen. She was plainly, but tastefully, dressed, and appeared very earnest in her desire to be allowed a few minutes conversation. Her story was quickly told: "I have failed in everything I have undertaken in earning my own living. My father is a paralytic, and is utterly helpless. I must take care of him. To do this I must have money. I am beautiful—that I know as well as you do." "Well," volunteered the colonel, "and you wish to speculate on these personal charms?" "I want money, Mr. Fisk, for my father," replied she. "Tell me," continued this strange man, "and tell me the truth—are you a good girl?" "Yes, sir," sobbed the child. "And would you rather continue one?" he asked again. "Oh, Mr. Fisk, of course I would!" she replied, bursting into tears. "Well, then," said he kindly and with strong feeling, "for God's sake keep so. Jim Fisk is a pretty rough boy, but he never hurt a hair of a woman's head yet, and he never will; and more than that, little girl, it shall never be said of him, when he has passed in his checks and stands before the judgment seat, that he has ever so much as winked at the ruin of any girl. I will help your father, if you will promise me that you will never try this dodge again with anybody; and I want you to be solemn about it as if you stood in the presence of your God." The promise was given, the father was taken care of until his death, and the girl was educated for a music teacher, and is now successfully employed.

Printer's Rules.

The following rules should be strictly observed by persons having occasion to visit a printing office:

1. Enter softly.
2. Sit down quietly.
3. Subscribe for the paper.
4. Pay for it in advance.
5. Don't touch the type.
6. Keep six feet from the devil.
7. Don't talk to the compositors.
8. Hands off manuscript.
9. Don't carry off the exchanges.
10. Never beg a paper.

Gentlemen observing these rules when entering an office will greatly oblige the editor, and need not fear the devil.

Ladies who sometimes bless us for a few minutes with their presence are not expected to keep these rules strictly.

Boys unaccompanied by their fathers are requested to keep their pockets and mouths shut. Girls are exempt from this rule.

Greeley's nomination has had the effect of relieving several thousand citizens from the disabilities imposed by the Fourteenth Amendment. If his more candidly is so beneficial in its effects, what may we not expect from his Presidency?

Courier-Journal.

We were pleased to receive a call from Gen. J. W. Burke, the accomplished Register in Bankruptcy from the Northern District of Alabama. Though differing with Gen. B. as widely as possible, politically, we have always entertained the highest respect and esteem for him, personally. We were sorry we did not have the pleasure of seeing Gen. B. who called during our absence. He left the city at 12:30 Thursday.

Beauty is God's handwriting—a wayside sacrament; welcome it in every fair face, every fair sky, every fair flower, and thank Him for it, the fountain of loveliness; and drink it in, simply and earnestly, with your eyes; it is a charmed draught, a cup of blessing.

It is a great mistake to suppose that a woman with no heart will be an easy creditor in the exchange of affection. There is not on earth a more merciless exactor of love from others than a thoroughly selfish woman; and the more unlovely she grows the more jealously and scrupulously she exacts love to the uttermost farthing.—[Mrs. Stowe.

And now we have the case of a young girl in Sullivan county, New York, killed by the discharge of a gun "pointed at her in fun." It is about time some of the "fores" murderers were hung "just for fun." This is about the only way in which their eccentric ideas as to what constitutes general sport can be corrected.

An Indiana farmer, after trying to trap, poison and shoot the rats that overrun his premises, bought two goats and gave them the range of yards and stables. Within a week every rat emigrated and stayed away until the goats were sold, nearly two years afterwards, when they all came back with all their friends. A second edition of goats were procured, and since then not a rat has been seen on the premises.

A curious suit was tried at Ellsworth, Me., at the last term of court. It was upon a promissory note. The defence was that the note was one that was written for practice, as the defendant and his brothers were one evening studying "partial payments." One of the notes was made payable to an old man who happened to be in the room. Nothing was heard of it for several years. The old man died, and now it is presented for payment by one who claims he purchased it for a valuable consideration. The defendant, luckily for him, was able to prove his nonage at the date of the note, and thus got clear.

Attempts at suicide may be expensive; and nothing can be more ridiculous than for a man to pay the bill out of his own pocket for cutting his own throat. This happened to an unfortunate fellow lately at Iowa City. He, to make matters sure, not only severed his windpipe, but slashed the arteries of his wrists. Then three Doctors took him in hand and stitched him up, and insisted upon his living; and so live he did to receive from the high-cost doctors a bill of $300. He said that he would not pay it; but the sawbones brought an action against him, and the judge and jury said that pay he must. The poor man will probably refrain from such luxuries in future.

MISSISSIPPI, J. & S. BONES. Dear Sir,
I have given the 10 inch (10 pound) weight of you, a thorough test, and can but express myself perfectly satisfied. The power was the running gear to my mill, which although in very bad order, was sufficient to grind one bushel (by the watch) in seven minutes. I had no trouble in doing grinding before breakfast. Several of my neighbors were present, and all were satisfied with the result, and were struck at the quantity and fine quality of the meal produced in so short a time. I have the need to my own mill used. The 10 inch mill I bought of you for the Foster Farm, and I will place the above written proof equally satisfactory. It is a complete mill.

Yours Truly,

future tranquility, to withdraw the decision of industrial and revenue matters from the virtual arbitration of the electoral college chosen with the single animating purpose of parties' ascendancy, and refer them for a more direct popular expression to each congressional district. Instead of being muzzled by some evasive declaration, the country is thereby invited to its frankest utterance, and no one would regret at being success, they would be content to acquiesce in the general judgment, honestly earned, that the local government be, and it undoubtedly is, the most vital principle of our institutions, much advance will be made towards establishing it by enabling people to pass upon questions so near to the heart of the citizen as the right of taxation through their local representatives. The opportunity which would be afforded by the referendum declaration on C. or any tariff through the form of centralization, involving hazardous reaches of executive influence. A combination with the much more impartially determined, and with the less chance to be abused, of the referendum upon the more trustful and direct form of local expression. Industrial issues can be likewise emancipated from the power of central to fidelity toward his immediate constituents. These are the most prominent features of that general concept of action which proposes to replace the present administration by one more in sympathy with the aspirations of the masses of our countrymen. Of course such concert cannot be attained by thrusting every minor or past difference into the foreground, and it will be for the people first to determine whether the objects are of such magnitude and present as need any ments and the country shall be first restored to free suffrage, uninfluenced by official declaration, and ours becomes in fact a free Republic, released from all apprehensions of a central domination. Without referring in detail to the various other propositions embraced in the resolutions of the convention, but seeing how they all contemplate a restoration of power to the people, peace to the nation, purity of the government; that they condemn the attempt to establish an ascendancy of military over civil rule, and affirm with exultation the union,

I have the honor to remain, very respectfully, yours,
[Signed] B. GRATZ BROWN.

Negro Women as Officers.—There was a fight yesterday, about two miles from the city, between a white man and a negro, in which the latter came out second best. It seems the negro gave the white man some impudence, when he was for the "he-tien." After he had succeeded in giving him a good sound and seized him, before he could say "Jack Robinson," and started for the city, the unfortunate brother following behind crying, "dat's right gals carryy him to Judge Busted, for he has nearly killed me." They succeeded in bringing the man to the city. By the time they had arrived, about five hundred had joined the five sisters, swearing vengeance. The officers arrived in time to take the man in charge. — Montgomery Advertiser.

ATION IN SPAIN. The case of the Bill of the Sagasta minority is as follows: On presentation of the budget it was found that $20,000,000 had been diverted from colonial to the interior department. Upon being called upon to explain, Sagasta said that the money had been used in the secret service. The reply was unsatisfactory, and the protesters were demanded. Sagasta finally declared that the money was used by the police and the army, and ordered that the re-spent. These records consist of letters, and of politicians, deputies and generals, and of reports of their movements. Whether these records are true or false, it is the most wonderful exhibit ever made by any government. Every prominent Spaniard is represented as being involved in some conspiracy, and Madrid appears to be a vast nest of political intrigue. SERRANO is said to be involved in the movement in favor of Alphonso, and minister in war, is said to be disappointed with the crisis, and Zorilla with the Internationalists. Distinguished republicans are reported as proposing to plunder the bank of Spain, Castellanos wishing only to seize the coin, and Margall urging the seizure of the bullion also. The king is represented as having no confidence in the capacity or honesty of the Spaniards; and as having asked the advice of his father on the propriety of employing Prussian generals. This

The "regular Republican party" seems to think that there is nothing likelier to bring about a change in the administration of Galena than the "Cobbler of Natick."

Mr. Grant might safely use the language of the lamented Uriah Heep, and allude to the "tumblelowness of Mr. Fish and himself. Spain, emboldened by an unbounded stomach shown by our Administration in its negotiations with England, may decline to reject Dr.

LEAF TOBACCO.—All persons wishing to buy Leaf Tobacco would do well to call on E. L. Woodward's Son and say in their supplies at once. The Tax on same after July 1st 1872 will be $500.00; consequently there will be none for sale.

Victoria Lawns, Marcellites, Piques, in fact everything in the White Goods line at greatly reduced prices, at Rosenberg's.

Col. Wm. B. Martin of Gadsden met with a most painful accident Wednesday night. He was coming out of the Court House when he fell down the steps from the upper story, severely injuring himself. He was bleeding at the mouth, nose and ears when last heard from, and fears were entertained that he would not live.

Rosenberg is selling shoes wonderfully cheap. Give him a call.

Will our correspondents and "Locals" please send in their communications earlier in the week? As it is, they pour into the office the day previous to publication, and consequently cannot all receive attention. Let communications be sent in by Wednesday, anyhow.

Buff Linen at Rosenberg's 25cts per yard. Call and see him.

We are pained to learn that Mr. R. H. Hart, a most excellent citizen of Gadsden, was drowned in the Coosa river, at Gadsden, Wednesday night. It is supposed he had gone in bathing, and getting beyond his depth, was swept off by the current and drowned. His body has not yet been recovered. His body clothing, towel, soap etc., were found on the bank as he had left them.

Nice lot of Grenadines at Rosenberg's cheap.

We have a letter from our old friend Maj. Jas. D. Truss, written from Ferryville, St. Clair County, which closes as follows: "We have good crops in good fix, good health, and are generally for Greeley."

It would do the soul of the old farmer of Chappaqua good to see this cheerful report, and we think we will send him the paper containing it.

We judge workmen by the clips they make. Look in front of Col. Parr's store. The clips there shows he has not been idle—one thousand boxes and barrels, all empty!—It

Jacksonville has recently received an accession in Mr. J. B. Peck, General Ticket Agent of the Selma, Rome and Dalton Railroad, who with his estimable family, has taken up his residence here. Mr. Peck is a most polite and agreeable gentleman, and an excellent Railroad man. We hope to see him Superintendent of the road after the next meeting of the Directors.

Gents' Cassimeres just the thing for the boys, at Rosenberg's.

The MONTHLY TRIBUNE—This ably edited paper comes to us in a new dress looking ever so much handsomer than before. The whole make up of the paper has been changed and the eye can rest on it with really pleasant interest. We hope the proprietors may find a reward for their enterprise in this matter in the appreciation of present subscribers and a long list of new ones.

Summer clothing at a sacrifice at Rosenberg's.

From letters that we have been permitted to see from dealers, we are satisfied that those who bring their wheat to market the earliest will get the best price. Wheat is now engaged to be delivered in Rome from the 1st to the 15th of July at $1.25. This is probably not the bottom of the market, as the Western and Southern crop is reported as very large.

Mr. R. P. Baker, Special Commissioner for Southern Claims Commission, for Alabama, heard claims at this place Thursday of loyalists who had lost property, at the hands of the United States Government, during the war. The only claimants from this county, were John A. DeArman as Administrator of his father's estate, and Robt. Pruitt.

See Col. Parr's advertisement in another column of this paper. He wants Wheat at the highest cash market price. He wants all the clean washed Cotton or Woolen rags you have, for which he will pay cash or goods.—It.

Some one has sent us an interesting letter of Col. Powell, on the natural advantages of the country immediately surrounding Birmingham, which we think of publishing next week. While on the subject of Birmingham it may not be out of place to mention the "Railroad Hotel" kept by Col. Ketchum long and favorably known to many citizens of North Georgia and this section of Alabama, as an able and successful Railroad manager and successful hotel keeper. The hotel he now has in Birmingham is in every respect worthy the fame he has so justly earned in that line heretofore.

Birmingham has two fine papers, neatly printed and ably edited, while the flourishing town of Elton near by, has one equally creditable to the county.

Carry all your Cotton or Woolen rags to Col. Parr and sell them for Cash and take the money and pay the printer. The "devil" wants us to settle up, and we can't do it for want of the "requisite." Imagine yourself contending with the devil! Go to Parr's, get the money and redeem us.—It.

Dr. C. C. Porter has handed us the fullest crop of corn this season. It was fully matured and beginning to harden.

Great Bargains in Embroideries and Edgings at J. Rosenberg's; call and examine for yourself.

Summer visitors are daily arriving and our people are extending them that courteous hospitality characteristic of the town. Good board can be had for $25 per month for visitors and $15 per month for servants. We hope to see the town full this Summer.

Fancy Goods of all kinds at Rosenberg's, at New York prices.

The Selma, Rome & Dalton Railroad will pass delegates to and from the State Convention at Montgomery for one fare, provided delegates purchase tickets at the point of taking the cars. Under this arrangement tickets will be sold on the 16th, 17th and 18th of this month at Patton, Jacksonville, Oxford and other points along the line.

The nomination of Greeley and Brown reminds us that Rosenberg sells cheaper Goods than anybody.

Col. Parr has one of the largest and best assorted Stocks of Family supplies and Plantation Groceries ever brought to this market. Call and see him.—June 15—tf.

At the last regular meeting of the Masonic Lodge of this place, the vote upon the question of removal of the Grand Lodge from Montgomery, was against removal.

Col. Parr has presented us a half dozen of his self sealing glass fruit jars. They are the very thing for putting up fruit. He has them by the thousands. A liberal discount will be made to merchants buying of him. We ask house-keepers to go look at Col. Parr's stock of fruit-preserving jars.

The Jacksonville Republican leans to the liberal movement.—Clayton Courier.

Yes, "like a sick kitten leans to a hot brick."

The initials of Greeley and Grant Brown, make a square and blend elegantly together, for instance.

LADIGA LOCALS.

The people here think Greeley a hard pill to swallow; but they think he "grinned himself" in baffling Jefferson Davis.

Greeley is not a representative man of our people, but a choice of evils, we prefer the least, and hope that the Democratic Convention will make no nomination. The Democratic party should still remain solid; but when our enemies are making a false move, it is necessary not to interrupt them.

Skyly wants to know to what tribe of the Piscatorial family the "Nicks" belong. They are supposed to have descended from that "silver serpent," seen by the U. P. Local.

ROCK.

CROSS PLAINS LOCALS.

The Sabbath School children had a nice picnic on last Friday the 7th inst.

The weather is very pleasant. The warm sunshine is tempered by the cool refreshing breezes. Harvesting is the order of the day. Crops in many instances have exceeded the anticipations of farmers in our vicinity. We hear of one young man, who has, alone and unaided, raised four hundred (400) bushels of wheat. This speaks well for him, considering this is his first year of farming.

The match game between the "Mutuals" and the "Sherry Nines" was a close one, and we did not witness the play. We think from the complimentary remarks made in reference to Jacksonville as a town, the advantage went into the hands of the beauty and intelligence of the ladies, and the gallantry of the gentlemen; and the general good time the boys say they had while in the place, that it will be a place for one or the other of the places. Either a portion of that beauty and intelligence will be lost to Jacksonville, or else the "Mutuals" will lose some of their good players. (We mean some of those without the whiskers.)

CANE CREEK LOCALS.

In my last I promised some details of the farming interests up to date. Most all the wheat is cut, and

CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT CONVENTION.

The Place Where and Time When to be Held.

John W. Parks, Esq., member of the Congressional Executive Committee of this District, called our attention a day or two ago to the contents of a letter received from the Hon. J. A. Reeves, of Cherokee county. Chairman of said committee. Mr. Reeves' object in his correspondence with the several members of the committee is to arrive at the sentiments of a majority, in reference to the time and place of holding a convention to nominate a candidate for Congress. Mr. R. expresses an opinion favorable to Glasgow, and suggests the propriety of postponing the time until the policy of the Democratic party is manifest by its action at Baltimore. We heartily endorse the suggestion of postponement, and are not going to urge grave objections to Glasgow as the place—if the committee so decide we will cheerfully acquiesce. Pending the discussion of the question, however, we will remark that Scottsboro, has also been suggested, and it is said that the three counties of Madison, Jackson and Marshall prefer this place. For our own part, whilst individually, we should be pleased to see our old friends from Cherokee and Calhoun here, we will not withhold the opinion that it would not be just to require them to come here to a point at one side of the District.

We will, to compromise, conflicting opinions, suggest Lebanon as being about as central and suitable a place as can be selected. Another question is also agitated. It is necessary to arrive at the Democratic strength of each county, in order to assign to each its proper weight in the convention. In Jackson county in the last Congressional election, Judge Fox received over 1,000 votes. In the last election for State officers, when the county voted 2,800 votes, the Democratic candidates received near 2,000.—Scottsboro Herald June 6th.

Staff of the N. Y. Tribune.

Now that Mr. Greeley has temporarily withdrawn from the control of the Tribune, it may well be considered as under the firm control of direction of young persons. William Reid, the managing editor, Jno. R. G. Henshaw, Jno. Hay, Noah Brooks, Lydia Gilbert, Rebecca Harding Davis, all editorial writers; Win. Winter, dramatic critic; Clarence Cook, art critic; Wm. F. G. Sluiter, city editor; and many others who contribute regularly to the columns of that journal, range from 20 to 40, exclusive of the ladies of course, and are therefore decidedly young. Feeling Mr. Greeley and Mr. Reid, together, there is hardly a member of the staff who can be considered as advanced in years.

What is true of the Tribune is true of most of the leading dailies, and indeed of the majority of the leading literary men. The brain work of New York is nearly all done by young men, as any one can see who happens to be present at a gathering of the scribblers of Manhattan.

Petty Prosecutions.

Ten Virginia printers, who had been working for some time in the Government Printing Office at Washington, were discharged on Saturday. On that day a circular was addressed to the compositor in the office inquiring whether they were Republicans or Democrats. The ten Virginians, amongst whom there were two young gentlemen from this city, answered that they were Democrats, and in less than fifteen minutes they were summarily discharged. Comment on such contemptible petty tyranny and proscription as this, by the best and most paternal Government the world ever saw is unnecessary.

Lyndhurst News.

The precise state of the negotiations concerning the supplemental article it is difficult to ascertain. This much, however, is proved true: Mr. Grant has made doubly good his title to the name of "Unconditional Surrender."

John Rose, a Canadian, convicted of committing rape on a girl 11 years old, was sentenced, in Buffalo, yesterday, to 20 years' imprisonment in the Auburn State Prison. Judge Burrows, in passing sentence, regretted that he could not sentence him to death.

A NOVEL BUT PRACTICAL IDEA.—It is perhaps not generally known that the Augusta Water Works have been successfully applied as a motive power for the running of light machinery. Mr. James J. Goss, proprietor of a job printing establishment in this city, using the water from an ordinary street pipe, is enabled to run all his presses at a great saving of labor and expense. There are in Augusta various other branches of industry to which this fact might be made profitable.—Chronicle and Sentinel.

Lieutenant Frederick D. Grant, first-born of the Administration, has arrived at Berlin. Among his retinue is an American officer named Sherman.

An examination into the Methodist Book Concern, of New York, resulted in disclosures by no means favorable to the reputation of the managers of that establishment. For instance, an error of $20,000 in addition, was covered by carrying that amount over from a previous year. This was a peculiar system of accounts, but it answered the purpose in this case. The cost of binding books varied thirty-seven per cent, in the course of two years. Additional evidence, said to be in the possession of the Committee, shows that an agent sold from the Book Concern hundreds of skins for which no credit was given; that he sold paper shavings at one time on his own personal account to the amount of over $1,000; that he appropriated sweepings of gold and silver leaf, amounting to a heavy per centage of the material used, and that discrepancies in the way account point clearly to the fraud. The appropriation of money claimed to have been paid to the bookery employees. The statements of Dr. Langman seem to have some foundation in fact, and the General Conference cannot afford to stop short of the most thorough investigation of the whole matter.

Dolly Vardenism.

It is with no small degree of astonishment, not to say grief, that we commence this brief exposition of a nation's disgrace—a press run to bequiths—the editorial or paragraphical brain run to seed in flowering petticoats. Whether it be meagerness of brain, laziness or carelessness, we will not pretend to judge, but if ever editors or "dolls" followed each other, repeated each other and doubled-up on each others' nonsense to an alarming degree, it is in this same case of D. V. As recorders of the dangerous as well as the agreeable features of the journalism of the hour, it behooves us to apply the editorial tongue to some of these paragraphs, so that posterity may wonder over the eccentricities of 1872. Comment will not be attempted. Hear the lions:

How's your Dolly Varden?

The latest—Dolly Varden cocktails.

Personal—Dolly Varden lives here.

Dolly Varden horse shoes are the latest.

Dolly Varden, if now alive, would be about fifty years old.

The Chicago Post recommends Dolly Varden for its editorial writers.

Which of the dailies has it that the editor name named Dolly Varden?

The latest fever is now here, as the Dolly Varden mania.

The Virginian has the small-pox in Dolly Varden petticoats.

Dolly Varden horse-shoes have been thrust upon the agricultural market.

It has gone as far as "Dolly Varden's milk" in Georgia. The latter turns out a lot of colics.

May I eat Dolly Varden?

Such had it in the garden, and every time it was in full it would be Dolly Varden.

As the ladies gain courage, Dolly Varden grows more numerous upon the streets, but no arrests have been made as yet, though the legislator of this lileless fashion is looked up by competent detectives.

We have seen men present themselves at the bar of the police court with faces beautifully Dolly Vardenized by the masterly efforts of the "crops" and yet they live and move and have their—whisky just as usual.

A St. Louis maiden explains that "Dolly Varden" was a character in Thackeray's play of the Terrible Temptation. Thanks, dear.

Dolly Varden gems are advertised, three dozen for twenty-five cents.

Dolly Varden, noses are the latest. Old toppers have "em—Dolly Varden" and "Old Dolly Varden" get up the most stunning styles.

A female infant was found on the porch of a house in Germantown, Pa., and carried to the poor house, where it was registered as "Dolly Varden."

The best Dolly Varden story yet, is told of a young lady of Little Rock, Arkansas, who had a very small kitten she named Dolly Varden, but as it progressed in age and other developments she discovered it was not that kind of a cat, so she re-christened it Thomas Varden.

The Federal soldiers stationed at Opelika rescued a prisoner from the town Marshall, who had been in custody for disorderly conduct. The Marshal went to the camp, re-arrested the man and confined him in the calaboose.

Mr. William Lloyd Garrison has written a letter to Mr. Sumner, scolding him violently for delivering such a speech at such a time. If Mr. Sumner's philippic on Grant carries as Mr. Garrison alleges, it is surely a work of supererogation to abuse him for delivering it.

There now! The Randolph county headless rooster has been arrested at Boston for obtaining money under false pretences. We thought that chicken would get into a difficulty if it ever attempted to imitate Boston.

News, J. & S. BONES, Dear Sir,

I have given the 16 inch Mill (Cotton) bought of you, a thorough test, and can but express myself perfectly satisfied. The power was the running gear for my gin, which although in very bad order, was sufficient to grind one bushel (by the watch) in 10 minutes. I find no trouble in grinding before breakfast. Several of my neighbors were present at the time, and all were satisfied with the result, and thus, I notice the mill is in any strain will mill. The 16 inch mill I bought of you for the Farm, and need since the above was written proves equally satisfactory. It is a complete mill.

Yours Truly,

SATURDAY, JUNE 22d 1872.

The friends of Hon. Thos. A. Walker, announce his name as a candidate for the Senate from the counties of Cherokee and Calhoun; subject to the action of a nominating convention, should one be held.

We are authorized to announce H. L. STEVENSON, as a candidate for the office of County Solicitor for Calhoun County. Election first Tuesday after the first Monday in November.

The editor has been absent the entire week at Montgomery attending the State Convention. Any deficiencies of the present number of the REPUBLICAN is attributable to this fact.

A marked copy of the Cherokee Advertiser has come to hand containing a communication signed "A Young Man," in reply to an editorial in the Republican of June 1st entitled "Amnesty." The editor is absent for the week, but the paper has been pigeon-holed for his inspection when he returns. He will doubtless have his "say" after he has read it.

Hon. John Foster who has been absent at the Virginia Alum Springs, seeking relief from a temporary affection of the throat which had troubled him for some weeks before his departure, writes to a friend here that the water has almost effected a cure, and that he will be back home in a short time sound and well. This is indeed gratifying. We shall now hear his voice raised in defence of right principle, in the coming exciting Presidential Campaign, and have his powerful aid in the conduct of our State Campaign. It would have been indeed unfortunate if relief had not come in time to have allowed of his participation in both.

We call attention to the advertisement of S. B. Kirby to be found in another column. Mr. Kirby is Agent for the Improved Wheeler and Wilson Sewing Machine, and he offers the most liberal terms ever before offered. We are fully satisfied that he has the best Machine now made, for durability, simplicity and lightness of draft. We would say to all that now is the time to get your Sewing Machine. Call on him.

The Enfield Times says that R. G. Young, Ringold Young and J. D. Young of Tallapoosa county, recently tried in Busted's Court at Montgomery, as Ku-Klux and sentenced to the Albany Penitentiary for 10 years and fined five thousand dollars each, are some of the veritable Byrd Young, the original Simon Suggs.

Wonderful Offer—Strange but True

We must confess to a surprise at receiving from Pittsburgh, Pa., a number of beautiful, 16-page, illustrated paper—the only illustrated paper of any size and pretensions outside of New York. But this is not all. It sends free and postage paid, to every yearly subscriber at only $1.50, one large and valuable 24x36 inch engraving, or, if preferred, a beautiful chrome in the sheet, (when sized, varnished, and mounted) ready for framing, 25 cents extra and a 24x36 engraving, of different subjects, every year. Subscriptions, addressed to one's own, or a $1.00 Back with Sewing Machine—expressed paid by check—ready for every club of 20 or more subscribers sent with $20.00, the university paper Monthly, on the basis of the people sent on trial, from June to January, (7 months) with a beautiful 24x36 engraving, free and postage paid, for only one dollar.

JUNE 18, 1872.

We very respectfully inform our customers and friends that we are still holding forth at our former stand, "Forney's Corner." Trade being dull we must have something to do. We will make liberal advances on wheat (to responsible parties) to be delivered, and will pay the highest market price at the time of delivery.

We further inform those who wish to build or make repairs that we are prepared to furnish any kind of timber on short notice. Our crews are still going cheap for cash. Call and see us.

Yours Truly,
DRAFTER & JOHNSON.

Ladies it only requires 1 1/2 cents per day to buy an Improved Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine and you have 19 months to pay for it. Get one. Now is the time. S. B. KIRBY, No 7 Office Row.

Mr. Als Clark has sent to our office, a cotton bloom gathered on the 17th inst. This is the first one we have seen this season.

Mrs. I. Seymour laid on our table this week a large white heat, that was simply sufficient for one meal at a table of twelve persons; also, a cabbage weighing three pounds. Mrs. S. is renowned for her fine gardens and excellent early vegetables.

Pic Nic.—On Thursday the 4th of July, there will be a Pic-nic at Geo. White's on the mountain. Everybody is invited to attend. He will have refreshments of every description on the grounds. He has erected a dancing hall for the accommodation of all lovers of the healthful and delightful recreation. The Minnehaha Cornet Band will be in attendance. This is an opportunity for fun and pleasure rarely presented, and we would advise every one to go.

Everybody ought to have one of the Improved Wheeler & Wilson Sewing machines. Call on S. B. KIRBY, No 7 Office Row.

Mr. J. L. Mattison killed a bird some weeks ago that he wishes to know the name of. Will some naturalist give him the desired information through the REPUBLICAN? Here is a description of the bird he gave it to us: 2 feet 9 inches high; 3 feet across the wings; head black with top-knot composed of three perfectly white feathers about 3 inches long; neck and breast white; black spot about 6 inches in diameter on the back; wings, light dove color; eyes red; bill almost as large as a man's; bill straight about four inches long, almost as wide as a man's finger, inclined to be round and tapering to a point; legs yellow and feet something like a crow's—not webbed.

A match game of base ball will be played here to-day between the Independent Club of Rome and the Merry Nine of this place.

We gather the following from the Gadsden Times of the 20th inst.: Mr. Hart's body was found last Sunday night near Gilbert's ferry, about ten miles below Gadsden.

Col. W. B. Martin who received severe injuries from falling down the stairs of the court house, is thought by the physician who attends on him to be out of all danger.

Mr. Shook's store was on fire on last Saturday night, 15th inst. It was supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

Capt. T. P. Morgan's mill, situated about three miles from town on the east side of the river, was burned on the night of the 13th inst. The fire is supposed to have originated from accident or carelessness. Loss about $3,000. No insurance.

Democratic State Convention.

At the hour of 12 M. the Convention was called to order by Hon. Thomas J. Judge, Chairman of the State Executive Committee, upon whose motion Hon. M. J. Bulger of Tallapoosa county, was selected to act as temporary chairman.

Col. Bulger on taking the chair thanked the Executive Committee and the Convention for the honor of temporarily presiding over its deliberations. He paid a warm tribute to the honor and manhood of the people of Alabama, to their law-abiding and Constitution-loving principles, and appealed in a glowing and fervid manner to all present to enter the coming campaign inspired by a united determination to win a glorious victory. He then introduced Hon. J. H. Francis, of Coosa, Messrs. Abner Hall, Ellis Phelan, Turner Clanton and J. H. Francis were requested to act as Temporary Secretaries.

Col. Judge laid before the Convention a message from the Board of Trade, Montgomery, extending to the delegates the courtesies of their rooms and invitation to visit at all hours. The invitation was accepted.

An invitation from the Committee of Arrangements at Birmingham was read inviting the Convention to visit that city on Friday the 21st inst.

The invitation was accepted and an order of thanks was read to the city authorities of Birmingham.

(The two-thirds rule was adopted by the convention on the first day of its session.)

The convention then took a ballot for the following names: Herndon, 150; Langdon, 100; Ligon, 50; Oates, 40; Walker, 40.

There being no nomination the Convention took another ballot with the following result: Herndon 150; Langdon 100; Ligon 50; Oates 40; Walker 40.

Col. Herndon having received the requisite number, a two-thirds vote, he was declared the nominee of the convention.

Gen. Baker, in a few eloquent remarks, as the friend of Col. Oates, pledged the support of the friends of Col. Oates, and his friends, and moved that the nomination of Col. Herndon be made unanimous, which was done with rousing cheers.

Most nobly was that appeal responded to by the people. The spirit of the people and the redemption of the State from the hands of ruthless invaders—was the result of the conflict which he inaugurated. This is the monument which he has erected to his own memory, and upon it should a grateful people heap their praises.

Be it therefore Resolved, That we, the people of Alabama, whom, living, he loved so well and served so faithfully, look back with gratitude and pride upon his own brave and noble life, and upon it should a grateful people heap their praises.

Resolved, That in all the acts of his life he exhibited the qualities which have ever secured the esteem and admiration of mankind—a heart pulsating to every generous prompting of duty and affection—a mind quick to conceive the noblest thoughts—a hand ready and able to execute the most daring purposes—a courage that never faltered—a devotion to duty that knew no compromise—a self-unlimited generosity in thought and act, and a patriotism that grew with his years and ripened with his strength.

Resolved, That we cherish his memory as a sacred legacy and commend his example to the youth of our country.

Resolved, That the President of this convention be requested to transmit a copy of the foregoing preamble and resolutions to the widow of the deceased, and to convey to her the assurance of sympathy and grief for her irreparable loss.

THOS. J. JUDGE, Chairman Executive Committee.

The convention adjourned to 4 o'clock P. M.

Afternoon Session. Convention met at 4 P. M.

Mr. Fowler, of Mobile, from the committee on resolutions, reported as follows: Resolutions reported as follows: The committee on resolutions to which was referred the resolution in opposition to the nomination of Col. Sanford and moved that it be made unanimous, which was done.

Col. Sanford was heartily and enthusiastically called for—thanked the Convention for its action in nominating him for the position which he had filled for the past eighteen months—accepted the nomination and pledged his earnest efforts to do everything in his power to carry out the policy of the Convention in the ensuing campaign.

of Calhoun, said that while Judge Walker was in the land, he had retired to his tent, it was only to his white, with which to make a more determined fight from now until November.

Mr. Ligon was enthusiastically called for. He appeared upon the stand, thanked the Convention for having selected the right man for the right place, and pledged a glorious victory for Thos. H. Herndon from East Alabama.

LIENFANT GOVERNOR. The President announced that the next thing in order was the nomination of a candidate for Lieutenant Governor.

Gen. Ligon placed in nomination the name of Lieut. Gov. Moran. The nomination was ratified by acclamation and with great and long continued applause.

Being called for Lieut. Gov. Moran appeared upon the stand and was greeted with a most enthusiastic reception.

He accepted the nomination in a few graceful and well-timed remarks and pledged his earnest endeavors, in the future as in the past, to achieve a victory for the Democratic and Conservative people of Alabama.

SECRETARY OF STATE. The President announced that the nomination of a candidate for Secretary of State was the next thing in order.

Gen. Ligon placed in nomination the name of Hon. J. J. Parker for re-election.

Gen. Ligon in seconding the nomination moved that Mr. Parker be re-nominated by acclamation which was carried, and Mr. Parker was declared the nominee of the Convention.

Mr. Parker in response to the enthusiastic call of the convention accepted the nomination and pledged his best efforts to protect the honor and rights of the State in the ensuing campaign.

THE GALLOWS IN TEXAS. Hanging of the Notorious Steph Ballew—He Murders a Brother, Marries a Sister, and is Afterwards Tried, Convicted and Twice Hung.

McKINNEY, Texas, June 1, 1872.

This section of Texas has looked upon this heart-rending spectacle, but the double hanging of the notorious and hardened murderer, Steph Ballew, on the gallows, at Fort Worth, on the 24th ult., has astonished anything ever beheld, even by the rough and weather-worn frontiersmen that had assembled from miles around to witness it. The day was a beautiful one, and long before sunrise the curious looking and eager multitude of citizens, directly south of the town, in the centre of which and least crowded the gallows. About half past 1 o'clock

THE PRISONER was led from the County Jail and placed in a wagon with the Sheriff and his posse, to be conveyed thence to the place of execution. He was nearly attired in a plain suit of black, and as the wagon drove to the gallows the crowd of people was not an eye off him, many thousands were "fixed upon him" with one pitying glance to Steph Ballew, the murderer of Jimmy Golden. The prisoner was taken from the wagon by Sheriff Bush and led up to the gallows. His face was a sullen and cold-blooded look, and as he sat there calmly smoking a cigar while the officiating clergy were performing service a thrill of horror crept over the multitude as they witnessed such unrelenting coolness and daring indifference.

After a few short prayers, of which the prisoner took no notice, the Sheriff advanced and announced that the prisoner had NOTHING TO SAY, he having positively declined to utter a single word.

Ballew was then informed that the time had come when the penalty of the law had to be carried out, when he gave down from the railing upon which he had been perched, advanced towards the Sheriff with a steady and such defiant manner, as to excite the crowd before him, and in the words of crime, he lowered his head in order to allow the Sheriff to properly adjust the rope. After the black cap had been drawn over his head and the necessary arrangements having been made, the Sheriff looked the prop from under the trap, and the heartless sounder, Steph Ballew, was swinging in mid-air, paying the penalty for the cold-blooded murder of James P. Golden. The first

FAILED TO BREAK HIS NECK, and it was discovered by the convulsive struggles of the murderer that something was wrong. After swinging for fifteen minutes, during which time the prisoner made desperate efforts to free himself, it was ascertained that the noose fit so loosely as to allow him to swing in a circle. Then came a trying time for the Sheriff and his posse. The assembled crowd were

A SECOND HANGING, and were not slow in publicly demanding it. The voices of the cattle drovers and backwoodsmen could be heard above the noise and confusion, shouting "Give the villain another dose!" "Shoot him!" "Cut his throat!" and numerous other exclamations of similar tenor. Women

THE WILDEST CONFUSION ensued. Sheriff Bush regained the platform, and by a determined effort of his assistants the half hung man was raised, the noose tightened, and amid the shouts of the more hardened attendants Ballew was swung to the winds the second time and in thirty minutes he was SUCCESSFULLY HUNG.

The circumstances of THE MURDER, as elicited in the trial, are as follows:—

On September 30, 1870, Ballew and his victim, James P. Golden, started on a trip to Quince, Tex., on a trading expedition, Ballew having successfully played the confidence game on the Golden family, inducing the belief that he was a regular trader in Texas stock. By these representations he was enabled to buy farming stock from Golden's father on credit. Upon starting Ballew gave to the senior Golden a note for $1,500 which he promised to pay to young Golden when both arrived in Texas. The young man came overland, and as he supposed, reached this place early in October. Then it was that Golden was murdered. Ballew induced his victim into a thicket, murdered him with an axe and buried him. Ballew was then in sole ownership of the property, which he afterwards sold, squandered the money, and, after wandering about the country, he again appeared at the home of the Golden, in Illinois, expressing surprise and astonishment at the absence of his companion, who, as he stated, had started on his return home several weeks before. Ballew told the murdered boy's father that he had given him large sums of money, among other amounts $1,500, to pay the note. After talking in this manner it was generally believed that the son had run away. Shortly after this Ballew, clad in the apparel of his victim, sought the hand of Clara Golden, sister of the man he had murdered, and had her to the marriage altar. Conflicting rumors brought about suspicion, showed detectives were put upon the search, and it soon proved that Ballew was indeed a murderer of his first wife's husband, and no year was shed as the body was buried in the woods, two miles below town.

How is This for Pedigree? A very searching investigation was carried on a few years ago, in the north of England, by two families who were hunting up their respective ancestry.

The strife was great between them; each one determined to look back into antiquity farther than the other.

One of the families, whose name was Spencer, employed an artist to paint a historic scene representing the building of the ark, and the loading up of the ship by Noah and his sons, with his multifarious cargo.

On the gang-plank leading to the deck of the ark two men were seen rolling up a huge log, on one side of which was painted in large letters, "Relics, insignia and papers belonging to the Spencer family."

This was considered a coup d'état hard to beat, but the other family, not to be outdone in the antediluvian pretensions of their name, prepared at great cost and research a record of their antiquity.

In describing the exploits of one of their ancestors at a very early day, who was represented as a man of great authority, this remarkable passage occurs: "During this year Adam and Eve were driven out of Paradise!"

A POINTED ANSWER.—The New York World having asked "what the Democratic party will gain besides a share of the Federal offices, by endorsing Mr. Greeley," the Galveston (Texas) News answers:

"If the editor will spend a month in the South, pay our taxes submit to the indignities which we endure, and be ruled over as we are by the dregs of the human race, he will probably be able to answer the question for himself. It is well for gentlemen in New York to prophylax at the results of Greeley's election. The wealthy gourmand who dine on turtle and port every day may turn up his nose at plain victuals, but to the poor man, who often goes hungry, corned-beef and bread without butter, are adopted by the following vote: Yeas 275, Nays 101. On the first resolution

Mr. McChesney, of the committee reported the following State Executive Committee:

1st District—Price Williams, of Mobile; F W Martin, of Conecuh; Joseph F Johnston, of Dallas.

2d District—Thomas J Judge, of Montgomery; R H Powell, of Bullock; H D Clayton, of Barbour.

3d District—Osceola Kyle, of Elmore; R F Ligon, of Macon; W D Bulger, of Tallapoosa.

4th District—H M Summerville, of Tallapoosa; W R McDaniel, of Perry.

5th District—James Crook, of Calhoun; W M Lowe, of Madison; R K Boyd, of Marshall.

6th District—Robt McFarland, of Lauderdale; G T Benson, of Jefferson; John Phelan, of Lawrence.

Mr Powell, of Tuscaloosa, moved that some other name be substituted for that of Mr Judge, of Montgomery, in order to continue Mr Judge as chairman.

This would have been done by acclamation but Mr Judge stated that for several reasons he preferred not to be re-elected chairman, that he would need time during the canvass, and that at the proper time he desired to nominate a gentleman whom it was his earnest desire should succeed him.

Whereupon the report of the committee was unanimously ratified.

Mr. Mosley, of Talladega, nominated John T. Heflin, of Talladega, as chairman of the State Executive Committee.

Mr. Heflin stated that it was essential for the chairman of the committee to reside in Montgomery and he asked that his name be not presented.

Mr. Judson nominated for chairman of Col. of Montgomery.

Col. Lowe seconded the motion of Col. Judge with great satisfaction—he knew no man worthier than Robert Tyler to succeed the pure and incorruptible Judge who had succeeded the noble and lamented Clanton.

The nomination was ratified by acclamation.

Mr. Sample, of Montgomery, offered the following resolution which was adopted.

Resolved, That four persons be appointed by the President who, with the

Mr. Howell, of Tennessee, offered a resolution which was unanimously adopted thanking Hon. R. W. Walker for the able and courteous manner in which he presided over the convention and the Secretary for the faithful discharge of his duties.

Mr Walker returned thanks to the convention for the patronage it had displayed and the kind treatment he had received and wished the delegates and all a safe return to their homes.

On motion the convention then adjourned sine die.

School Girls and Editors. A Pleasant Science.

The following welcome to the press was read before the Columbus Female College by Miss Mollie Eford, during the late morning of the Press Association in this city. It was received with decided applause:

Gentlemen of the Press Association of State of Mississippi: We welcome you to our halls. Your visit is an era in the history of our little city, and a pleasant episode in our social experience. Especially your visit set the heart of the school girls aglow with excitement, for, whether it ed to regard the editor's brain as the fountain of wisdom, his pen prolific of compliments and his heart overflowing with generosity. Marvel not then, ye sage knaves of the quill, should we feel as if some of the potentiale had honored us with a visit.

Our desire is that your visit may be a pleasant one, that your lives may be as pleasant pieces—that your hopes may not be frustrated—that you may all be married men, and that you may all vote for Horace Greeley, if you can't do any better.

May you ever be the school girls' friends, as we have always considered you, and may our regard for you only increase with length of acquaintance.

The Democratic Convention.

The proceedings of this great body of representative men speaks for it. It was the largest that has been held in the State for years, and as patriotic as any that ever assembled. One already possessed the convention, and that was to devise ways and means for a return to pure government. To this end the delegates composing it and the sections they represented were prepared to make any sacrifice. The ticket they have given out is a good and strong one and will be elected next November, if the Democracy of the State does but half its duty.

The Georgia State Democratic Convention met and Hon. A. R. Lamar was made President.

The action of the Convention was entirely harmonious. The Resolutions plant the Democracy upon the equality of the States, invite everybody to co-operate with them in the overthrow of the present corrupt Administration, and decline to instruct Delegates to the Baltimore Convention. But it is known that the Delegates appointed by the Convention are favorable to Greeley and Brown. Among them are Gen. Wright of the Augusta Chronicle, and Col. Avery of the Atlanta Constitution, both of which papers have advocated the endorsement of Greeley.

Gov. Randolph, on taking the chair at the New Jersey Democratic Convention, among other things, said: "Unless some unexpected reaction occurs, the action of the Baltimore Convention is a foregone conclusion. Endorsed at Baltimore, I deem Greeley's election assured. It is well known that my judgment has been against the endorsement of the Cincinnati ticket."

The Ohio Democratic Convention will endorse Greeley and Brown or send Delegates favorable to their endorsement to the Convention at Baltimore.

The Press Convention.

We published last week the proceedings of this respectable body, but owing to the make up, in somewhat mutilated form. Sufficient may have been gathered from it, however, to learn that its entire action was highly important to newspaper interests in Alabama. Several important measures were discussed, which owing to the shortness of the session were not matured. These we trust will be brought up and disposed of at the Convention in Mobile, December 4th. Each member present pledged himself and the paper he represented to abide by the rules and regulations adopted. Our subscribers will notice that among these was a resolution to publish no communications recommending or suggesting candidates for office except upon the payment of advertising rates therefor. As such communications are generally of little interest to any one but the candidate so recommended or suggested, and as they always contemplate in their publication an actual outlay of money on the part of the publisher, we regard the action of the Convention on this point as eminently proper; and we hereby give notice to all concerned that we shall adopt the resolution of the Association, as in duty bound, as our own. The resolution referred to also provided for a charge for obituaries over five lines in length. Another important matter, looking to the protection of publishers in their dealings with advertising agents was satisfactorily disposed of. We trust that publishers will not be backward in making complaints and that the Committee will be prompt to act in every case. These advertising agents, one and all, seem to make it a rule, while swindling one publisher here, to be careful to pay another promptly there, that in every event they may find some defenders in each State, and always have references that will report them satisfactorily, on enquiry. The resolution to make the cause of one swindled publisher the cause of all, readily heads off this pretty game. Other important action was had, which may be seen by reference to the proceedings published last week.

The session of the Convention though short was harmonious and very pleasant. Each and every one of us had an opportunity to scan the faces and talk to men we had been curious to see, from reading after them each week. To say that we were not disappointed in the personal appearance of some of them would not be true, but it was always an agreeable disappointment. We can truthfully say that, in almost every instance, we had formed an idea of the personal appearance of the men composing the Association, that did not do justice to them. Many pleasant acquaintances and we trust lasting friendships were formed.

The Association occupied the rooms graciously tendered by the Board of Trade, whose President, Mr. Strausberger, a most courteous and hospitable gentleman, and whose Secretary, Ben. H. Searns, author of the "Alabama Legislature and other works," the very prince of good fellows and a member of the "old guard" himself, were personally present the entire day.

Bro. W. M. Searns, of the Advertiser office, enacted the part of host in a manner becoming his generous spirit and social disposition; while Bro. Francis of the Advertiser made himself agreeable and was observant of the wants of the "visiting brethren."

To Messrs. Searns of the Advertiser and LeGrand & Co., the principal advertisers in Alabama, the Association is indebted for a bountiful supply of champagne. The Havana consumed during the deliberations were the gift of Mr. Strausberger, the President of the Board of Trade.

Col. S. J. Saffold, the President of the Association presided throughout the day with dignity, now and then descending to the floor to lend the members present the benefit of his experience and observation. The entire discussion, on every subject brought forward, was full of information and fraught with good to the Press of Alabama. So far as we observe the newspapers represented at the Convention speak in terms of pleasure of the meeting. Some are a little miffed that Montgomery was not more lavishly in her attentions; but this was hardly to be expected when we reflect that she had another large convention on her hands, which was about as much as she could well attend to. She made a fair divide, and we think the press ought to rest content with this. In fact we cannot see why not. It is time that newspaper men should cease insisting on special favors in that way—favors which interested parties here and there over the country have rendered a custom. Editors who live by their brains should be less sensitive to slights put upon their stomachs.

The best hearted and most generous young man in the State lives at Selma, but he is not indigenous to Selma soil. He is a transplant from Jacksonville, we are happy to say, and his friends here know him by the name of John Woodward. As proof of either fact, that is to say, as proof that he is the best hearted boy in Alabama, or that his name is John Woodward, we have only to mention that on our return from Montgomery, we found awaiting us, as a gift from him, an elegant Greeley and Brown hat. Need we say more?

Conferences to see about who is to be the next President are the order of the day. Just following the Fifth Avenue press, come John Van Allen and Joseph R. Flinders, who want a Conference of the Anti-Greeley Democrats at Baltimore, July 8th, the day preceding the National Democratic Convention. It is as we Mr. Flinders. You may swear like the army in Flanders from now until the 9th and then Mr. Greeley will walk over the track. "The people have got the bits in their teeth."

Col. Robert Tyler.

No man in the State, within the last few years, has been of more signal service to the Democratic party than COL. ROBERT TYLER; and Col. JENKINS could have performed no more graceful act than to have transferred, as he did, to his shoulders the mantle of the popular, the patriotic, the lamented CHATMAN.

The position of Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee, at this time, is one of high honor and responsibility; but Col. TYLER will worthily wear the one and answer faithfully to the other.

While we rejoice that his services to the party and his eminent ability has been thus publicly acknowledged, we can only express a regret (and in doing so we would not be construed as expressing dissatisfaction at the nomination of either Messrs. JOLLY or BAKER) that an evident misunderstanding, of no moment in the convention, deprived him of the place upon the ticket, for Congress at large, which it was the evident wish of the Convention to confer upon him. His great popularity in the State was evinced in the round after round of long continued applause which greeted the mention of his name when Mr. PUSKACZAK placed it before the convention. That he stood in high favor with the convention, the ballots will show, he being at one time far ahead of all competitors and that notwithstanding the fact that there was another competitor for the honor from his own District. But if he was popular in the convention before, the lofty sentiment uttered in response to a call of the convention after the withdrawal of his name, rendered him doubly so, and stamped the conviction of his eminent fitness for the position his friends sought to confer upon him, upon the minds of all present. "It were enough for any man" said this pure patriot, "to see the vindication of the principles for which he has contended and the triumph of the cause which he has espoused." Had the convention been permitted another ballot after the utterance of that sentiment, coming as it did, clothed in the most modest garb that language and manner could throw around it, he would have received a response in an almost unanimous nomination.

As it is, his friends are cheered with the thought that Alabama has in store yet more and greater honors for her favorite and most faithful sons.

Hon. Thos. A. Walker.

It will be seen by reference to the Proceedings of the Convention that this worthy son of Calhoun county received an honorable vote, for the nomination for Governor, in that body. His locality was all that prevented that respectable vote from being swelled into proportions large enough to nominate him. Mobile has a very heavy Democratic vote, and inasmuch as she neither asked nor received a place on the State ticket in the last canvass, the convention was disposed to look with great favor on any candidate she might put forward. That man was the Hon. Thos. H. Hernon, her favorite son, and he received an enthusiastic support from the beginning; for besides being the first choice of Mobile county, he was well known to members of the convention as a man who in times past they had delighted to honor. None are better satisfied with the result than Judge Walker, we know, and when the time comes for hand bells in the canvass, no arm will be found more stalwart than his, and there will be no more willing laborer in the field. His friends who may be disappointed that he was not chosen to fill a position they knew he would grace, need not be deprived of his services altogether. They can easily send him to the State Senate, a position to which they have already shown a desire to elevate him, when he will be in position to put in his best looks in behalf of their rights and interests.

Amnesty and Its Opponents.

Some weeks ago we wrote an article on the then fresh topic of Amnesty, in which we saw fit to say a pleasant word of welcome to the men again admitted to all the rights and immunities of American citizenship by a simple act of Justice on the part of Congress, and which contained a chapter of hope for the young men of the South, under the new order of things, may have found their prospects of immediate promotion somewhat impaired thereby. In it we espoused neither the cause of old or young. Indeed, no such unworthy thought occurred to us in connection therewith.

It has suited the purpose of some, however, (among them a correspondent of the Cherokee Advertiser under the nom de plume of "Young Man," and a correspondent of the Gadsden Times under the inappropriate title of "Junius,") to construe the article as an assertion of the superior claims of the old over the young, and to make it the occasion for a display of that disfranchising and proscriptive spirit, which we all bitterly condemned in a Radical Congress. We say the same spirit which we have condemned in a Radical Congress, because if the men who have recently had their franchises restored to them by Congress, are again to be disfranchised to all intents and purposes by the "young man," what has been effected by recent legislation on the subject? Would "young man" replace the shackles upon the limbs of his good and true old soldiers as ever bore arms, and as wise and sagacious statesmen as ever sat in council? Such men are Cooper and McSpadden of his own county, to say nothing of thousands of others scattered all over the South. Would he "retire these old men," because, forsooth, ambition has filled his mind and heart with the vainglorious thought that "young men" can drive the "old men" and hold a steady rein in such a manner as to avoid a "catastrophe?"

Both correspondents alluded to, singularly agree upon the construction placed upon our article; and, since both are as alike as two black eyes, we one reply will suffice for both. That reply we have already made in declining the construction placed upon the article in question. It only remains for us to correct some of the errors of these young knights who have set their faces in test for a fight against "the fathers" and we are done.

It is not true that we are "juvenile" over the wretched effect amnesty is to have upon the "outcropping" prospects of the young men of our beloved South. If we displayed any juvenile spirit, it was because Congress had at last done justice to a large portion of our honored GADSDEN CITIZENS, who had until then been the longest sufferers in a common cause. We should be sorry to think that either "A Young Man" or "Junius" were not stirred by the same generous emotions, on the reception of the tidings. We recognize no cause of the young man separate and apart from that of the old man. If we did, our heart and sympathy would be all on the side of the former. In a fight for the spoils between the two, it would be a shame for us, or for any one else, to espouse the cause of either. Neither do we recognize the superior claims of either to office; for neither have any claims upon the country; it is the country that has claims upon both.

That our entire article was not published, in connection with the communications criticising it, we shall not complain, as it best suited the purpose of the critics to garble it.

To the only point in the article of "Junius" apart from the points made in the article of a "Young Man," and that under cover of a pun, we shall not reply, further than to remark, that it is not for him, writing in the interest of the one he names, to talk about "kind folk" in the matter.

"Young Man," with beaming feeling, alludes to the gallant spirits who perished from among the young men of the country in the late struggle. Why did it not suit his purpose to mention some of the gallant spirits who yet survive the war—the Shuffields, the Boyds, the Lowes, the Robinsons, the Dobbs, the Dunlaps, the Leathes, the Bess, the Ingers, the Atkins, for instance? Was it because he feared that by such allusion, the eyes of the people of the District might be turned from his favorite candidate to the contemplation of some of these?

"Who inaugurated the rebellion," enquires this sapient "young man," and then he proceeds to answer his own question by saying "it was not the young men," thus attempting, by implication, to fix it upon the old men of the country. He has read history to but little purpose, his knowledge of the causes which led to the war is but shallow, if he does not know that neither our young nor our old men are responsible for the war; if he does not know that it was forced upon us by the dominant party in the North, first, upon the utter subversion of our form of government and, incidentally, the destruction of the people of the South.

But in claiming for the young men of the South credit for fighting the war, he is again in error. It was a common remark at the time that the Southern Confederacy, in the prosecution of the war, had anticipated the cradle and the tomb. We took a slight hand in that little affair, and we have a clear recollection that we fought through it all side by side with men old enough to have laid grown sons in the army, whom they sometimes had the pleasure to meet in quiet hours, in the camp, and whom they sometimes had the keen anguish to bear from the bloody field of battle, their more than sacrifices of life, offered up as a holocaust upon the altar of liberty. Shame upon the young man who would now attempt to ostracize such as these!

To another point. The "young man," remarks, for the people, the expression employed by us wherein we said "the people have the bits in their teeth and are beyond restraint or control." This we regarded as the very highest compliment we could have paid "the people" and we are surprised to see one of them, in the person of the "young man," so assinine as to resent it. If it meant anything it meant that they were out from under the hands of the politicians, both young and old; that they were doing their own thinking.

"Young man" says at the end of his article, just before he picks up the gauntlet supposed to be thrown him by the old men, that the people will make as the test for office, not age, but "if he is honest, is he faithful, is he qualified, has he the moral courage to discharge his whole duty?" This is what they ought to do. This is what they will do. "The line" therefore is [not] drawn and the issue is [not] squarely made between the young and old men in the coming elections. Nor indeed should it be. Old and young alike should be thought, and, as one of the latter class, we modestly suggest, since the Jeffersonian rule has been invoked, that "Young Man" and those having affinity, go slow, even on that line, lest the people, under the application of their tests should summarily consign him to the tomb of the Capulets.

You will find that the young men of the South will take "possession of the line," which requires activity and energy in its management, and will retire these old men to less arduous duties but honorable ease—an easy going service of an administrative character, with good pay and light work, adapted to their energies and less laborious nature, and we young men will try and drive the "old men" and hold a steady rein in such a manner as to avoid a "catastrophe."

And then Look on this.

From Washington: The telegrams from Washington inform that Congress has passed an amnesty bill removing all political disabilities with but few exceptions. This is simply an act of sheer justice to the brave, noble, patriotic, and chivalric citizens of the Southern States. No credit can be ascribed to those few who aided our friends in achieving this glorious result.

To congratulate our oppressed and cruelly treated fellow-citizens in again being placed in a position to serve their country, to give us the aid of their wisdom, their sagacity, and their statesmanship in the halls of legislation, in the executive chambers, and in our judicial tribunals. I say it is time for rejoicing when we behold our brethren released from the bonds of political servitude, and our fathers restored unto us, with all the rights and immunities of citizenship by a simple act, that justice would not deem it fitting to withhold.

No credit can be ascribed to those few who aided our friends in achieving this glorious result.

To congratulate our oppressed and cruelly treated fellow-citizens in again being placed in a position to serve their country, to give us the aid of their wisdom, their sagacity, and their statesmanship in the halls of legislation, in the executive chambers, and in our judicial tribunals. I say it is time for rejoicing when we behold our brethren released from the bonds of political servitude, and our fathers restored unto us, with all the rights and immunities of citizenship by a simple act, that justice would not deem it fitting to withhold.

IT LEADS TO HAPPINESS!

A HOON TO THE WHOLE RACE OF WOMEN!

DR. J. BRADFELD'S
FEMALE REGULATOR!

It will bring on the Menses; all pain at the monthly "Period;" cure Hemorrhoids, and Neuralgia of the Back and Uterus; Leucorrhoea or "Whites," and partial paralysis Uteri; check excessive flow, and correct all irregularities peculiar to ladies.

It will remove all irritation of Kidneys & Bladder; relieve Costiveness; purify the blood; give tone & strength to the whole system; clear the skin imparting a rosy hue to the cheeks, & cheerfulness to the mind.

It is as sure a cure in all the above diseases as Quinine is in Chills & Fever. Ladies can cure themselves of all the above diseases without revealing their condition to the least person, which is always mortifying to their pride and modesty.

It is recommended by the best physicians and the clergy.

LaGRANGE, GA., March 23, 1870.
BRADFELD & CO., Atlanta, Ga.—Dear Sirs: I take pleasure in stating that I have used for the last twenty years, the medicine known now putting up, known as Dr. J. Bradfield's FEMALE REGULATOR, and consider it the best combination ever gotten together for the disease for which it is recommended. I have been familiar with the prescription both as a practitioner of medicine and in domestic practice, and can honestly say that no other medicine will so surely cure females, and can but hope that every lady in our whole land, who may be suffering in any way peculiar to their sex, may be able to procure and use this medicine, for they may not only be relieved, but that they may be restored to health and strength. With my kindest regards,
I am respectfully, W. B. FERRELL, M.D.

THE STATE OF ALABAMA, COUNTY CALHOUN.

Probate Court, June the 6th 1872.
Caroline Norman, Dec'd Estate of J. H. H. Executor of the last will of said deceased and filed his statement, accounts, vouchers and evidence for a final settlement of said Estate. It is ordered that the 1st day of July, 1872 be appointed a day of account to make such settlement, at which time all persons interested can appear and contest the said settlement, if they think proper.

A. WOODS,
Judge of Probate.
